WELCOME TO NSB

A Note from Mayor Fred Cleveland

NSB is one of the oldest and most interesting coastal communities in the United States! With seven miles of white sandy beach and eight miles along the intracoastal waterway, we are known for boating, fishing, surfing, and water sports. The close proximity to Ponce Inlet and the inland back river waterways provide a haven for all water activities and ecotourism.

In addition to our beautiful beaches and waterways, our seaside community proudly offers recreational activities for families and visitors of all ages, including a wide array of art displays, studios, and galleries as well as parks, playgrounds, golfing, tennis, and shuffleboard.

We have two historic districts with inside and outside dining, unique local merchandise shopping, antique stores, and art galleries. The Canaveral National Seashore Park borders our city to the south and many historic sites are nearby and to the west of the city. New Smyrna Beach is home to the Atlantic Center for the Arts, a world renowned, nonprofit arts education facility.

Our hospitality industry continues to thrive as many of our restaurants are noted for their exquisite cuisine, seafood specialties, live music, and appreciation of wine.

For those visitors desiring overnight accommodations, we offer quaint bed & breakfast lodging, beachside hotels, and condos for rent. When all these amazing attributes are combined, you wind up with a community that is geared to family style living; where you can enjoy the sand and surf in a relaxed atmosphere for a weekend, a week, a season, or a lifetime.

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Soon after he graduated High School, he was hired by Ocean World (Marine Park) in Fort Lauderdale, Florida and worked in the dive department. He got to ride the dolphins in the underwater Dolphin Show; it was a thrill he will never forget. To this day it was one of the most memorable jobs he ever had.

Once digital photography appeared on the market place, he decided to switch gears from commercial to art photography.

Eventually, he moved his family to New Smyrna Beach because it reminded him a lot of the Florida Keys. The new beautiful surroundings sparked even more inspiration. In 2011, he began to focus his full-time energy on art photography by opening his own gallery.

Come along the journey with Mike and view his work online or at his gallery in New Smyrna Beach. His photographs are in collections throughout the United States and abroad. All of Mike's photographic prints are limited edition pieces of art and personally developed by him.

You can find Mike's gift merchandise, such as coasters, ornaments, and more, exclusively at Funky Flamingo Gift Shop or online at www.funky-flamingo.com/collections/mike-ring-gifts.

Pollinator plants around NSB

Providing wildflower-rich habitat is the most significant action you can take to support pollinators. Native plants, which are adapted to local soils and climates, are usually the best sources of nectar and pollen for native pollinators. Source: xerces.org

LOST LANDMARK

INDIAN RIVER RANCH & PREP SCHOOL

As you drive west on Wayne Ave. today and pass through the area of our municipal golf course and the neighboring subdivisions, it's hard to imagine that about a 100 years ago the area was home to a dude ranch & prep school.

The Indian River Ranch was established in 1925 and catered to those from the North who were longing for an escape from the cold winters with some adventure sprinkled in. With horses that had been purchased from cattle ranches in Texas and Oklahoma, visitors had the chance to experience a ranch lifestyle and interact with horses that knew the trade well.

It wasn't all horsing around at the ranch, the brochure preserved in our museum library also promotes a beach cottage for visitors along with salt and freshwater fishing, ocean and sulfur pool swimming, sunbathing, tennis, and golf.

Perhaps the most interesting element of the Indian River Ranch was that it also housed a preparatory school named The Indian River School. Annual applicants were limited to 20 and were housed at the ranch in what is described as an open / screened dorm type facility. Each accepted applicant was assigned one of the horses from the ranch to care for as part of their responsibilities.

With a Board of Trustees and Advisory Board made up of locals who were graduates of Ivy League schools, the school sought to prepare young men for their upcoming academic endeavors, college board exams were given at the school each June. The school maintained a rodeo trick riding team, crew team, glee club, and a school program called "The Tide" that was published each year. The copy of "The Tide" that made its way to our museum collection is dated 1936. Wayne Connor, Washington Connor's son and namesake for Wayne Avenue is at the top of the list on the Board of Trustees. We are always excited to find these gems in our museum collection and share them with those who appreciate reflecting back on the way things were, not that long ago.

SHARING YESTERDAY, PRESERVING TODAY, SHAPING TOMORROW

The Mary S. Harrell Black Heritage Museum is the cornerstone of the Historic West Side Community in New Smyrna Beach, Florida. The museum resides in the old Sacred Heart/St. Rita church building, constructed in 1899.

The museum displays a rich and varied collection of photos, oral histories, and memorabilia that tell the story of the people who live here. The collection educates citizens and students about the history and race relations in small town Florida over the course of the twentieth century. The oral histories and photographs speaks of the hardships and triumphs of this African community from the early 1900's to the present. These personal accounts of daily life make history come alive for young and old.

Mary S. Harrell, founder of the museum, knew the value of preserving history. She once stated "Slavery and discrimination may be ugly, but the stories of the past, both good and bad, need to be told. I want the children to know that was life then, and if you're not careful, you'll slip right back to it".

The museum is located at 314 N. Duss Street in NSB. For information about hours, admission & more, visit www.blackheritage.org.

BEACH SAFETY

- Always swim directly in front of a lifeguard & observe beach warning flags posted on lifeguards towers.
- Be aware of rip currents. Rip currents are channels of fast-moving water that can pull even the most experienced swimmers from shore. Learn how to spot a rip current & how to respond if caught in one prior to entering the water.
- Supervise children closely when on the beach. Accompany children when crossing the traffic lanes or swimming & playing in the ocean.
- Keep a safe distance from the traffic lanes and parking areas when setting up personal areas for sitting & sunbathing. Sunbathing is permitted to the east and west of the traffic lanes.
- Watch for dangerous weather conditions. If thunder is heard, a lightning strike is possible. Take shelter in a vehicle or leave the beach to seek safety indoors.
- Be courteous to fellow beachgoers. Music or noise that can be heard from more than 50 feet of the source is illegal.
- Personal watercraft operators must stay in the proper zones and wear a helmet at all times.
- Alcohol, fireworks, glass containers & pets are not allowed on the beach. Service animals are permitted per the ADA.

PROTECTING OUR MARINE LIFE

Volusia County's beaches are home to hundreds of unique plant and animal species. Some species, such as the loggerhead sea turtle & the piping plover, are protected by state and federal laws due to being in danger of extinction. Volusia County has taken several steps to conserve the fragile marine ecosystem, such as regulating beach driving and parking. Check out the list below to learn how you can help protect our local marine wildlife!

DON'T disturb any sea turtle nests, markers, or protective screening

DON'T disturb any nesting seabirds, their eggs or nesting areas

DON'T use bright lights at night when on or near the beach

DON'T disturb or interfere with adult or hatchling sea turtles in the water, on the beach, or at their nests

DO use only designated driving lanes, parking areas and beach access boardwalks/walkways

DO flatten sandcastles, fill holes, and remove all items & trash when leaving the beach

DO use only red LED flashlights when on the beach at night

DO observe wildlife from a safe distance - if a animal appears to be injured or in danger, notify the proper authorities

Canaveral National Seashore contains nearly 58,000 acres of barrier island, open lagoon, coastal hammock, pine flatwoods, and offshore waters. With 24 miles of pristine beach, it is prime habitat for many threatened and endangered species and provides nesting beaches for several thousand protected marine turtles. Two thirds of the park is located within Mosquito Lagoon. The lagoon is designated as an estuary of national significance and an outstanding Florida waterway. It is one of the most diverse and productive estuaries in North America. The national seashore also contains cultural resources that reflect human history in the Florida peninsula from 2000 BC to early 20th century Florida settlement. Swimming, sunning, surfing, and beachcombing are favorite pastimes on this strip of land that time has left untouched.

Entrances to Canaveral National Seashore are located in south New Smyrna Beach, Apollo Beach District, or east of Titusville, Playalinda Beach District. There are also many entry points accessible by boat on the lagoon section of the seashore. To learn more about Canaveral National Seashore, including hours, admission fees, and more, please visit www.nps.gov/cana.

THE NEW SMYRNA ODYSSEY MEMORIAL

The Odyssey Memorial stands 24 feet high & was completed in the early 2000's to commemorate the arrival of early settlers to New Smyrna from Greece, Minorca, Italy & Corsica.

The Memorial was designed by the Xepapas Design Group, led by the late architect Andy Xepapas of the AHEPA, and painted by the Apostolos Group & Weston Coatings.

PUPPY LOVE

When we say New Smyrna Beach is perfect for the whole family, we mean it. On our barrier island, every good boy (and girl) can come along on vacation. From lodging to restaurants to parks, our area rolls out the welcome mat for our four-legged friends.

No matter what type of accommodations you're looking for, there's a pet-friendly option available. Many of our area bed and breakfasts, hotels, motels, and condominiums allow man's best friend to spend the night, so there's no need to board your pup back home. However, if you need or want to board your animal during your visit, pet resorts and kennels are available. Just make sure Buster has all his necessary shots before your trip.

When it's time to chow-down, you can find pet friendly restaurants all across town. Both Canal Street and Flagler Avenue are lined with eateries that offer pet-friendly patios, gardens, and outdoor spaces. Many restaurant owners will set out water bowls so your pup stays well-hydrated. Others even serve up a little snack, like our historic Dairy Queen, where "doggie sundaes" are on the menu.

RAINY DAY RESCUE

Nine Exciting Activities to Brighten Up A Gloomy Day

There's still plenty of fun to be had when the weather hits in New Smyrna Beach. Below are some of our favorite rainy-day activities, and don't worry, the sun'll be peeking out from behind those clouds in no time.

Visit Our Local Galleries

Head to Canal Street Historic Arts District to explore indoor galleries, like Jane's Art Gallery, Arts on Douglas, and more. If you're lucky, you may get the chance to visit with a local artist while they work in-studio. The galleries are free to visit.

Explore Our Local Museums

Step out of the rain and back in time with a visit to one of our area museums. Learn about the lives of New Smyrna Beach residents throughout history at the New Smyrna Museum of History and the Mary S. Harrell Black Heritage Museum, which are both filled with artifacts, local memorabilia, photography, and more.

Roll Out the Fun at New Smyrna Lanes

When the weather's left you with a few hours to spare, head over to New Smyrna Lanes. The family-owned bowling alley offers 16 lanes with state-of-the-art technology.

Get In Touch With Your Inner Artist

If the forecast is showing rain for days, sign up in advance for a class at a local arts-and-crafts workshop like Hammer & Stain or the Bob Ross Art Workshop. You'll be so busy unleashing your creativity that you'll forget about the rain.

See a Show at The Little Theatre

Celebrating their 75th year in operation, The Little Theatre of New Smyrna Beach, offers a variety of stage performances including plays, musicals, comedians, and more. Check out their website - www.nsbplayers.org - to see upcoming events & purchase tickets.

Unwind with a Spa Day

Escape a drizzly day by booking a treatment at one of our area spas, like The Spa at Venetian Bay, Angie's Serenity Day Spa, or Abundant Health Day Spa. Luxurious mani-pedis, soothing massages, and rejuvenating facials will transport you right to relaxation mode.

Test Your Skills at the NSB Escape Room

Consider yourself a whiz at riddles and clues? Prove it with an afternoon at the NSB Escape Room. In this fun, interactive group experience, participants race the clock and use puzzles to escape from a locked room.

Sample Something Special at Sugar Works Distillery

Pop into Sugar Works Distillery for a tasting of their popular rum, whiskey, and shine. You can also take a short tour of the distillery and learn about the process for making spirits.

Breakfast Spots

Whether you want a hearty meal of bacon and eggs or something more inventive like chai banana bread French toast, there's a bounty of breakfast options in New Smyrna Beach.

With two convenient locations, the Wake Up Café offers both traditional American breakfast fare as well as international specialties like alfajores pancakes, an Argentinian dish featuring dulce de leche caramel sandwiched between two buttermilk pancakes and dusted with powdered sugar. It's deliciously decadent.

Over on Flagler Avenue, Third Wave Café serves up brunch in its charming, verdant garden. A variety of crepes, both sweet and savory, are the stars here. Don't forget to try a mimosa or Bloody Mary, the perfect breakfast sidekicks.

More of the grab-and-go type? Stop by Go Juice NSB or the Mason Bar for an acai bowl bursting with color and flavor. Both eateries also offer healthful juices and smoothies, packed with fruits and veggies.

Coffee connoisseurs will want to enjoy a warm cuppa from local favorite, Island Roasters, where you'll find freshly roasted, organic and fair-trade coffees on the board. Warm up with a piping hot café au lait or go the iced route—the baristas use coffee cubes so your beverage still packs a punch after some time in the sun.

A BIRD'S EYE VIEW

In 1887, the 175 foot tall Ponce de Leon Lighthouse flashed for the first time. Originally the beacon burned oil, but was converted to electricity in the 1920's.

203 steps spiral upward to this great lamp which has a revolving lens made in Paris in 1867. The brilliant light beamed out to sea six times every 26 seconds and was visible some 20 miles out.

The lighthouse rests on a 45 foot wide base with a 12 foot foundation of brick. At the base the structure is 32 feet in diameter and tapers upward 175 feet. Also on this property is a sea museum which was once the head lighthouse keeper's house. Four other buildings lend a view of the past as one building has been restored and furnished in the era of 1890.

The Ponce de Leon Lighthouse became a National Historic Landmark in 1972. Today, the lighthouse operates as a museum, lending both a glimpse into the past and a breathtaking view of Ponce Inlet, New Smyrna Beach and the surrounding area. Tours, both guided and self-guided, are available along with unique activities and events such as the monthly "Climb to the Moon".

The Ponce de Leon Lighthouse is located at 4931 S. Peninsula Dr in Ponce Inlet. For more information, call (386) 236-2150 or visit www.ponceinlet.org.

Celebrating 25 YEARS

Enjoy a brief stroll through the century old live oaks to the once thriving village of Eldora. Close your eyes as you rock on the porch and imagine the excitement of the arrival of a steamboat, or just absorb a magnificent sunset over Mosquito Lagoon. Both activities were enjoyed by early residents and visitors alike, along with horseback riding and walks on the beach. Step back in time, relax and experience Eldora.

The Eldora House, built in 1913 experienced its heyday from around 1900 until the late 1930s, and is the last remaining home from the Eldora Community.

Established in 1876, Eldora was originally a farming community, with oranges as the main crop, and was home to a Post Office, Eldora Hotel, Packing House, and a school with 15 students during its peak. However, the combination of devastating freezes and the railroad arriving to the mainland led to the decline of the community. By the early 1900's, the area was transformed into a resort for fishing and beach activities and was at one time a winter home for a wealthy family of northerners.

In the 1950's The Summerlin Family purchased the Eldora House Hotel, opening a seafood restaurant in the boathouse, which unfortunately was lost to a fire in 1965. Shortly after, the Meiner Family bought the hotel with plans to remodel it, but decided to sell the property after the creation of Canaveral National Seashore in 1975.

The Hotel was then left abandoned and fell into disrepair. In 1982, T.C. Wilder and a committee were appointed to examine restoring the Hotel, but their efforts lacked support and funding from the government. Fortunately, another structure on the property known as the State House remained salvageable. Thanks to the efforts of the Friends of Canaveral, $400,000 in donations and grants were raised and restoration work began in 1989. After a decade long project, renovations concluded in 1999, welcoming the visitors to step into history and learn about this almost forgotten community. The Eldora State House was added to the US National Register of Historic Places on November 21, 2001, and is celebrating its 25th anniversary in 2024.
